Excursion Steamer Primus Sunk by a Tug at Midnight.

MANY ARE LOST

Accident Occurs Where the River Is Widest and Deepest.

WAS SUNK AT ONCE

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Hamburg, July 21.—An excursion steamer Primus, was sunk in a collision
on the Elbe river early this morning and 55 passengers were drowned.
The accident occurred twenty miles below Hamburg on the widest portion of the Elbe.

Struck By Tug
The Primus was struck by the tug Hansa, of the Hamburg-American line. The excursion steamer was cut directly in two and rapidly filled with water and sank. The accident was so sudden that but thirty passengers were saved from the ill-fated Primus.

Happened at Night
The collision happened at about 12:30 a. m. The Primus was coming up the river with 155 excursionists on board and the tug was on its way down stream. In turning to avoid the approaching collision the Primus was struck full on the side and the sharp bow of the tug passed completely through its sides causing it to sink
so rapidly that the boats lowered from the tug were only able to save a few of the occupants of the steamer.

Many Singers Lost
On board the Primus were the members of the Elbe male choral society from Buxede, one of the most famous in Germany. The steamer was from Buxede bound for Hamburg and the accident happened between Blanken and Neinstedt, where there is a bend in the river and the widest portion is to be found.

WOMAN USES BROOM ON FOUR DESPERADOES

Ex-Convicts Try to Force Her to Cook
for Them, but Are Finally Driven Away.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 21.—Four men recently released from the Onondaga penitentiary tried to force a woman
at the residence of William Hoffman, his mother was alone in the house when the men marched into the house and announced that they were hungry and wanted something to eat and she must cook it.
"Clear out!" said Mrs. Hoffman, as she made an onslaught on the men with a broom.
The men fled, but went to the carriage house and cut a valuable carriage into strips and pulled up most of the garden. Mrs. Hoffman awakened her son, who got together a policeman and a posse of citizens.
The outlaws boarded a passing train,
but were put off. The men were run down at East Syracuse, where they tried to defend themselves with a razor.

BOATS FORCED BACK BY THE HEAVY GALE

Passenger Vessels from Milwaukee
Are Compelled to Return to Port.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 21.—The gale
last night was heavy and the on-shore wind made the sea one of the worst of the season.

Passengers on the incoming boats were all seasick and the three steamers which left on their regular run were forced to come back to the harbor after battling with the seas for some time. These were the Pere Marquette No. 2, the Crosby liner Naomi and the Barry boat. The passengers were badly scared and thankful to get back alive.

The captain of the Pere Marquette said the seas went clear over the pilothouse and the boat fairly stood on her beam ends. Women fainted and became hysterical and the boats, so the captain said, came back because they begged so to be returned.

says of his retirement that it is

WILL TRAVEL AS DO SOLDIERS

Secretary Root To Take a Novel
Trip in a Genuine Army
Wagon.

Washington, July 21.—(Special.)—
Secretary Root has adopted a characteristic method to familiarize himself with army transportation. He has agreed to visit the encampment of the district of Columbia militia, which is located quite a distance above Washington, near the town of Leesburg, on Goose Creek, where Grover Cleveland used to do his fishing. The railroad authorities put a car at his especial disposal of the secretary of war, and were astonished when he declined the offer. They had the only line up the west bank of the Potomac, and were fully aware of that fact.

The secretary of war however determined to go up in an army wagon
and be drawn by two relays of well-trained army mules. Accompanied by Adj. Gen. Corbin, Brig. Gen. Leonard Wood and Col. Randolph, the chief of artillery, the secretary of war will leave town at 7 o'clock in the morning. The trolley will be taken to Cabin John's bridge where breakfast will be served, and it is expected that he journey to Leesburg, which is forty-five miles, will be concluded by 2:30 p. m.

The route is northward through the Potomac valley to Edward's ferry, and thence across the Potomac to Goose creek and the encampment at Leesburg. The return trip will be made chiefly by moonlight, and the secretary of war will see army transportation under the most favorable circumstances, inasmuch as he has with him Col. Randolph, the chief of artillery, who is said to be the best story teller in the army.

ITALY'S KING WAS MARKED

Reds at Paterson Had Chosen Victor
Emmanuel as an Anarchist Victim.

Washington, July 21.—(Special.)— Italy can thank the United States for information which prevented an attempt on the part of a Paterson anarchist to slay King Victor Emmanuel her sovereign. Inquiry at the state department today developed the fact that the man who, after arrest at Bra, Italy, gave the name of Tonetti
and at whose quarters were papers showing that he was in correspondence with anarchists at Paterson, had been apprehended in accordance with a suggestion made by this government.

Some weeks ago the secret service learned that a man had been sent to Italy to attempt the life of the king.
This information was at once transmitted to the Rome government, and the authorities expressed gratification that it brought about the arrest of the fanatic.

Following so closely upon the assassination of King Humbert, an attempt upon Victor Emmanuel might have produced consequences serious to the friendly relations of the two governments.

There is no intention on the part of the United States, of course, to take any action in Tonetti's behalf.
The procedure of the United States.
In this case, has attracted attention to the policy which is being pursued to keep strict watch of all persons of anarchistic tendencies, and should they leave the country the police of the point they propose visiting will be promptly notified.

The arrest at Bra clearly establishes the fact that anarchists are not sleeping, and the administration believes it furnishes a fresh proof of the need of action by congress in accordance with views already strongly expressed by the president.

J.M. WHITEHEAD'S
ABLE ADDRESSTELLS OF MISSIONARY WORK
FOR YOUNG MEN

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Talented Senator Speaks to Christian Endeavorers of Y. M. C. A.
Work in Foreign Lands.

In spite of the very inclement weather of last evening the meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of the Baptist church was largely attended, the announcement that the usual meeting hour was to be devoted to listening to an address by Senator John M. Whitehead, being the attractive power which drew people from their comfortable homes.

The meeting was a missionary service in charge of the young men of the society and they chose to devote it especially to the missionary work of the Young Men's Christian Association, of which organization Senator Whitehead is the state president. J. C. Staton was the leader of the evening and read a portion of the tenth chapter of Matthew as the Scripture lesson. Ralph Grove offered the prayer and Prof. J. S. Taylor presided at the piano during the song service.

Senator Whitehead had been asked to speak of the Missionary department of the Y. M. C. A. work and he did so in the simple direct manner which is one of the chief characteristics of the man. He spoke quietly and unassumingly, every sentence was directly to the point and his address contained messages of helpfulness and information for all who heard him.

Tribute to John R. Mott

As an introduction Senator Whitehead told of dining a few weeks ago with John R. Mott in Milwaukee. It was the first time that he had met the field secretary of the Y. M. C. A. who has charge of student federation work in foreign countries, although he had long been familiar with his work. He was even more favorably impressed than he had expected, large as his anticipations had been.

Mr. Mott is a man of fine presence, sturdy physique, good voice and intense earnestness. It has been said of him that he never jokes and never smiles but this is scarcely true as his addresses show many traces of humor. His account of his work as secretary of the Y. M. C. A. work which brings him in touch with the students of all nations, and his story of his travels show that the ways by which young men may be approached are the same whatever the color of their skin or whatever the language they speak.

Kinship of the World
The work of the Y. M. C. A. among the students of other lands has the same object as the work in this country. Its aim is to train the young man's mind, to develop his physical and spiritual nature and to fit him for the responsibilities of his life work. Through this missionary work the Y. M. C. A. of the United States is brought into fellowship with the young men all over the world.

The young men of heaven countries are subject to temptations of vice and immorality and to mental temptations even greater than those which assail the young men of this country. To them the association goes in the person of such men as Mr. Mott and Mr. Phelps, who is soon to go out from this state, fine examples of the young manhood of this country.

Work in Colleges

There is no feature of Christian work which appeals so directly to the young people as the work of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Mott is a man who is worthy to sit anywhere. He would honor a seat in congress or the senate or preside ably at the head of a bank or a railroad. He has that earnestness, that rare intelligence and those qualities necessary to fit a man to go out on missionary work. Other nations do not want nambypamby religion any more than it is wanted here. All the responsibilities of life are soon to devolve on the young men and this is also true in Japan and India.

Christ's Mission

Christ came into the world to take hold, to be a helper to men in this world, to be a source of strength to men while they are trying to live up to high ideals. Those men in far away countries look on the world with natural eyes, having the same faculties as the men of this country and lacking none. The conditions of life, language and language may be different but they are men and they need high ideals and purposes and need to be guided by Christ.

To them the Y. M. C. A. carries a condensation of energy and power from this country. It is a wise thing to train them to take up the work themselves and today there are many native secretaries who are truly engaged in missionary work among their fellows.

Character of the Work

The work is not merely religious. It is laying the foundation of new social conditions. These foreign nations are waking up. People in missionary work are engaged in an undertaking which will be felt through the civilized world for the trained young men will be the leaders in the business world and in the social and intellectual circles. There will be greater institutions of learning. Men come to this country imbued with modern ideas and go back with a wider knowledge to become marked men.

Every association established in China or Japan is a center of modern Christian life and the young men take hold of its work just as they do here. Each of these lives is a source of Christian strength in the community. It is a great privilege for young men, who feel the influence of Christ's fellowship, to work through an organization which they own, control and are. Through it they

The Y. M. C. A. is entitled to high credit for the enlarged missionary spirit which exists in colleges. It is less difficult to secure missionaries now than ever before. Now there are thousands of students in the student volunteer movement who stand ready to go to foreign fields. The association work in colleges is devoted largely to the missionary feature and to kindling zeal for missionary service.

Mutual Helpfulness

Today, with railroads and telegraphs and the thousands of tourists who visit foreign countries annually everything is adapted to bringing the associations of the world within easy touch of each other. As Mr. Mott goes about the world he carries condensed power from the home societies to those in foreign fields and brings back the results. He carries a great message abroad and brings back the inspiration which is the source of power.

Work is Personal

All that there is in the world of missionary power is flesh and blood, that flesh and blood brought into contact with other flesh and blood. What Christ does in the world is done through men and women for other men and women. He worked by personal methods and that is the way of the modern missionary. He has in his life those impulses, purposes and experiences which can find place only in the human heart, which find expression only in man and which reaches only humanity. The missionary has the same purposes which were in Christ and which flow out through him to other lives.

HIGH PRAISE FOR
JENKINS LL. JONES

Former Janesville Pastor Is Eulogized for His Striking Individuality and Lofly Purposes.

Rev. Jenkins Lloyd Jones, former pastor of the All Souls' church of this city, and for several years past the pastor of All Souls' church in Chicago and one of the city's recognized leaders in advanced thought, has had a glowing tribute paid him by a brother Chicago clergyman. The eulogy of the former Janesville pastor appeared in a recent edition of Hearst's Chicago American and is from the pen of Rev. Thomas B. Gregory.

It will be read with interest by Rev. Jones' many friends in this city, who will heartily endorse the sentiments expressed. The eulogy in full follows:

Jenkins Lloyd Jones! What is he like? Like nothing else on earth, but himself. There is but one Jenkins Lloyd Jones.

The minister of All Souls' church is an independent. He cannot help his independence—it was born in him when he was born into the world.

The law that gave him his being, gave him his individuality, and from that individuality he can no more escape than the Ethiopian can get away from his skin or the leopard his spots.

Not from vanity, not from spirit of exclusiveness, but by virtue of the eternal constitution of his nature this man must be purely and simply himself.

I know of no soul that so perfectly and beautifully illustrates the exhortation of Paul to his son: To thine own self be true, And it must follow as the night the day.

Thou canst not then be false to any man.

But "truth is stranger than fiction," and the strangest thing about truth is its polarity. It two-sidedness, its apparent antagonism of itself with itself.

We have here an independent of the independents—a man who will bow his neck to no yoke, who will work in no traces except those of his own construction, whose motto is: "Give me liberty, or give me death!" and yet this man is the sworn brother of every other man, a lover of the whole human race, and an enthusiastic co-worker with every other man who is toiling for the uplifting of humanity.

The lonely man is lonely only in his methods. In the sweep of his spirit and the sympathies of his heart he is one of the most sociable men that live.

Alone he must go out in the mountain, or out into the wilderness, to commune with the eternal and to get its messages, but when he comes back and proclaims that message, it is found to be so human, so broad, so reasonable that it at once becomes a message for all.

Jenkins Lloyd Jones is, in a word, the unflinching champion of life's unities, of the grand synthesis of things. He is ever listening for the report of the shot that shall "go round the world." He is the prophet of the universal, the preacher of the all-encompassing laws.

In the creed of this or that particular church, Jenkins Lloyd Jones may have but little faith, but great is his faith in the creed of the universe.

The little "Jack Horner's" who would be sitting off in their "corners" while the great world is rushing by, will get no good from Jenkins Lloyd Jones' preaching, will probably not understand it, but scholars, thinkers, true lovers and real worshippers, hearing him, cannot but exclaim:

"Lo! this man has stood face to face with Truth. He speaks to us at first hand, and the message that he brings us, makes us strong indeed."

Long life to Jenkins Lloyd Jones! the clear-eyed prophet of the light that "never was on sea or land," but which shines in every brave and loyal heart; the natural born friend and brother of every human being; the friend of even of the dumb creatures who cannot speak for themselves; the outspoken champion of the larger truth, which, like an ocean, comprehends all of the little truths; the conscientious, self-sacrificing worker for all that tends to bring men together

HENDERSON ON CHRISTIAN UNITYMASTERLY SERMON AT LAST EVENING'S UNION SERVICE.

RAIN INTERFERES WITH PLANS

Meeting Was Held in Court Street
M. E. Church Instead of the Court House Park.

The cold and damp weather of last evening made it impossible to hold the union evening service of the churches in the park as has been done for two Sundays past. Instead a good sized audience assembled in the Court Street M. E. church. The size of the audience was smaller than that which has attended either of the past services, but was to be attributed directly to the threatening aspect of the elements.

Quartette Sings
The singing of the male quartette should be especially mentioned as adding greatly to the service. In addition to leading in the congregational singing they gave two anthems numbers immediately preceding and at the conclusion of the discourse, which was given by the Rev. J. T. Henderson of the Presbyterian church. The reading of the Scriptures was from the second chapter of Hebrews by Rev. Churm, after which Rev. Vaughan led the meeting in prayer.

The Discourse
In beginning his address, Rev. Henderson read from the twelfth chapter of First Chronicles where the tribes of Israel come to pay allegiance to David, who was still keeping himself in hiding because of his fear of Saul. These men who came were all numbered among the "mighty men, helpers in war" but the characteristic upon which special stress was laid was that they were warriors "which could keep rank; they were not of a double heart," or, as the marginal reference has it, "they were without a heart and a heart."

Great Compliment

This was no small compliment, which the chronicler of the history of the Jews paid these same men when he said that they could keep rank and were of a single heart. That was a quality which was well worth the having as much so now as then. The unity of the human race has stood out from the beginning and it is useless to try and conceal the fact. Man cannot live by and for himself but must be marshalled into line and file with those about him. All hearts should be one and all men united in one bond of common interest. It is true that some men seem to forge ahead and win for themselves distinction that does not fall to the share of others but is only possible in a narrow sense. In the larger way God marshals all his host in one company, forcing the speedy to reduce their stride until it keeps step with the halting aimless, gait of the slow. In some sense there is great freedom of attainment, great opportunity for each man to shape his life, in another, there is singleness of aim marked out for all and uniformity of action.

Unity of Nature

Unity is all about us in the world of nature. The crystal gives instance of many molecules of allied matter which have an affinity for each other. They are joined together in such a way that to all practical purposes they have become each a part of one larger mass. The molecules are all separated but they have become one. Looking out into the starry sky of night one may see world after world, each separate and itself and yet all joined together, by some marvellous, all embracing, power which unifies the fragment, and by which all this infinite host of the celestial bodies together march, keeping step to the eternal music of the spheres. The attraction of like to like is a powerful influence on the worlds and on this smaller world in which we dwell.

Clubs and Societies

Upon the earth there are organizations of every kind, embracing in the classes that they reach. Clubs, fraternal orders and societies of a thousand kinds and purposes dominate our life. And it would seem that God had set his sanction on this since the same law of organization and combination with natural aim holds good in the universe. We may enact laws against the trusts and monopolies, but the tendency of capital to combine is inevitable and is not to be impeded by legislation.

The Miners' Convention
It is a great sight that we may look upon a multitude of men gathered together in Indianapolis at the present time. They are laborers and they are all working for themselves, but now they have come to one place in convention that they may discuss how they may best aid others who are in distress. It shows that the spirit of brotherhood of man is beginning to permeate our country, that men are beginning to think of others to keep rank.

We should rejoice that the day has come when men of an organization as far reaching as that of the coalminers are willing to give financial aid to one branch of their organization, in one common effort to secure the welfare of a part of their number.

Brotherhood of Man

Men have found from experience that it is not well that nations should oppose nations and man to war against man. There was the day when every man's hand was lifted in strife against that of his neighbor. The day is now fast coming when every man will be clasping in his own hand that of his neighbor and all will be keeping rank with one grand aim.

The Hidden Influence

It must be that there is some strongly binding influence that holds men together. This influence is religion. There was a time when carbon points that ever draw nearer together until at length the electric spark is able to span the intervening space and throw its powerful light about in all directions, enlightening all who come within reach of its rays.

God is Love
God is love. May the time come when this may be stated in no unknown tongue, but in one language which all tribes may know and understand. This is one of the primary doctrines which will one day cause all people to fall in one rank with one purpose.

The Unknown God

A second great truth is like to it, a belief in the Lord Jesus Christ. He is being worshipped by those who do not know him. Many there are who are blindly groping in the search of light and right, and many of these are unconsciously serving Christ. Paul found one people who had too much religion. In their anxiety lest they might have neglected some duty to whom homage was due they had gone so far as to put up an altar which bore the inscription "To the unknown God." Many men have the same altar before which they bow down and worship. What the church should strive toward is to show these that they are worshipping Christ Jesus, the one deity who claims the instinctive homage of all peoples. Those who have been blindly following Saul should realize that David is their appointed leader and that he will show the way to victory to all who will enroll themselves under him.

Christ Nearer Than God

The world should know Jesus Christ because it seems that he comes a little nearer than God. The Father seems veiled in the clouds afar, surrounded by all his host, but the son is here upon earth with us, moving about doing good. When the world thinks of infancy and motherhood it thinks of the child Jesus and the virgin mother. Childhood calls to mind the gracious shepherd as he kindly rebukes his disciples, "suffer the little children to come unto me." When the world thinks of youth it turns to the young ruler whom Jesus loved, and of sorrow and grave to that mourning house home in Bethany that had given up its son to a world that had crucified him in return for the great gift that had been bestowed upon them. Everything that touches the hearts of men has a counterpart in the life of Christ.

"In my Father's house are many mansions." Christ is a leader who leads to victory. He has made all preparations for the future and they will not fail. "If it were not so I would have told you," he says with convincing simplicity. Let us then keep rank and be of double heart. One may not march under the banner of two kings, of God and Mammon, of the Divine One and of the world and its lust.

In a certain castle there was an old musical instrument. For long years it had been unused. Dust had covered it over and the strings were broken; men had come to look upon its dark shape as it hung there high up on the wall with a superstitious fear. At last one day a man came who tentatively reached up and took the instrument down from upon the wall where it hung. With reverential hand he brushed away the dust and replaced the old strings with new. Gradually he tuned the unused strings up to the right tension and then under his hand the instrument breathed forth strange sweet chords, strains that held amazed life onlookers who had seen it there a worthless, dust covered piece of wood. The master had come and claimed his own. So are many men. Sin has cast its dust upon them and they are worthless, silent, but there is a master who can repair the broken strings and remove the unsightly dust and leave that man ready to sound those strains of music for which he intended by the Divine Creator.

HONOR TO THE DEAD
IS APPRECIATEDVeterans Thank People of Rock County
for Soldiers' Monument
Soon To Be Dedicated.

To the Citizens of Rock County: The undersigned, the Executive Committee of the Rock County ex-Soldiers' and Sailors' Union, in behalf of said organization, desires to express their appreciation of the patriotism of the people of Rock county, who so generously provided funds whereby one of the finest soldiers' monuments in the state has been erected to the memory of the soldiers and sailors of the war of the Rebellion, as a noble tribute to their deeds of valor on many bloody battlefields, and to their patriotism and love of country, which was over the same, whether on the weary march, on the tented field, in the hospital, in the rifle pit, or in the prison pen. The monument has been completed and stands conspicuously in the beautiful Court House park, in the city of Janesville, an honor to the county and a lasting monument of respect to the boys of '61 to '65.

In as much as the people of the county at large, have aided materially in the erection of the monument, it is expected that they will gladly and willingly take an interest in the dedication that will take place on August 28th, 1922. The Rt. Rev. Samuel Fallows, of Chicago, has been secured to make the address. And a cordial invitation is heartily extended to the people of Rock county to maintain the reputation of the county for patriotism by being present and contributing in every way to the success of the occasion.

SIX MILLIONS
LOST IN FLOOD

Farmers in Illinois, Iowa, and Missouri Are Made Penniless.

TORRENTS DESTROY THE CROPS

Most Abundant Yield on Record Is Wiped Out by the Rising Waters of the Mississippi—Levees Threaten to Break.

Keokuk, Iowa, July 21.—Flood losses in the Mississippi valley south of Keokuk are estimated at $6,000,000, with the situation continuing to grow worse and every prospect that this amount will be increased two or three millions. Everywhere throughout the section the most abundant crops ever known are under water deep enough to float a steamboat, and farmers who ten days ago were wealthy are to-day penniless and homeless.

The most of this loss is on the Missouri side of the river, between Keokuk and Hannibal. All this territory was practically covered with corn a fortnight ago estimated to make seventy-five to a hundred bushels to the acre. The loss is total. Experience is that if the water stays forty-eight hours it kills corn even four inches under the surface, and every stalk wet by waves perishes from rotting roots. Much of that back from the channel looks to the casual observer as if it would recover when the flood subsides, but a month will see it all brown and sear.

River Is Rising.
The river is rising all the time, six inches during the day in the immense area of 700 square miles, and the worst to come by an extension of the flooded area by the water passing levees it is now topping.

The chief flood thus far is on the Missouri side, from Keokuk to Louisiana, with Canton and West Quincy as centers of the country hurt the worst. On the Illinois side are three continuous levees for forty miles from Warsaw to Quincy above the water and thus far safe, but farmers are afraid of crevasses from muskrat holes, and every rod of the redoubt is watched day and night. The breaking of these levees would flood 175 square miles in Illinois and destroy $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 worth of corn. The levees below Quincy are in the same situation, except that they are lower and less firm.

Levees Disappear.
Opposite Quincy in Missouri is still another center of special devastation. North twelve miles to La Grange and south to Holton large prairies are well under water, reaching from the Illinois bluffs to the Missouri bluffs, at least ten miles.

Levees hastily thrown around farms have disappeared in a fierce current rushing from above through the draw of the Burlington bridge, carrying everything before it. Lone Tree prairie, ten miles square, is deserted, the population having flown to Quincy and the bluffs on the Missouri side. Fabius river, fifteen miles above Hannibal, is high and furnishing a route for the Mississippi to flank and reverse the levee, as the Fox river does forty miles up the Mississippi. This flanking movement makes even the highest Missouri levees ineffective. Around La Morte, Silvertown, Busch Station, Clemens, Ashburn, north of Hannibal, there is more wheat than at other places, and all in the shock is mostly washed away. The chief crop there is corn, however, and there is the same ruin as at other places.

Des Moines Raging.
The Des Moines river at its mouth is nearly two miles wide, and the island delta covered with farms, is entirely under water. Gregory is submerged except the white church, in which services was held. The praying congregation from the country reached the house of God by the railroad track, which is still above the flood in a waste of waters miles wide. Other towns and cities on the islands are beyond the danger line.

The Des Moines river is now stationary at its mouth. Reports from Ottumwa show a fall of two feet. Points between show a fall also. The Mississippi here shows a stage of 15.4 feet, the highest since 1897.

DANGER AT PEORIA.

Rising Water Threatens to Cause Large Losses.

Peoria, Ill., July 21.—The Illinois river threatens to cause thousands of dollars' damage to buildings and manufacturing in Peoria. The losses already caused along the lowlands by the floods will be but a drop in the bucket as compared with what it will be if the water gets one foot higher, and river men say that is no possibility of the water receding in the next twelve hours. Saturday the river stood 20.5 feet above low-water mark, and was going up at the rate of half an inch an hour. People living along the bottom lands both above and below Peoria, have sought the high lands and have driven their stock with them.

Homing Pigeons Out in the Wet. Mishawaka, Ind., July 21.—Thirty-two drenched and exhausted pigeons of the Mishawaka Homing club flew from Winona, Miss., 600 miles distant, in about sixteen hours. Rain and heavy winds were encountered by the tiny racers through space, and their arrival was not expected the same day of liberation.

DREAM THAT TURNED OUT TRUE

Location of Oil Well Pointed Out to Michigan Farmer.

Alpena, Mich., July 21.—Frank Bejaul, a Wilson township farmer, has discovered a free flow of oil on his farm seven miles from Alpena. Bejaul says that he dreamed four successive nights that if he investigated a certain spot he would find oil. Recently he, in company with another man, visited the locality to which he was directed in the dream and commenced to excavate. The deeper he dug the stronger the fumes of oil. Finally, at a depth of twenty feet, he found a free flow of oil. The excavation was refilled.

DIES SUDDENLY

Demise of Famous "Bonanza King" Comes Without Warning

HEART FAILURE CAUSES DEATH

Left Lung Was Badly Congested, Indicating the Presence of Pneumonia—Was Taken with a Chill, but Seemed to Improve.

London, July 21.—John W. Mackay died at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening at his residence, 6 Carlton House Terrace, in his seventy-second year.

His death was unexpected, for, although he had been ill nearly a week, his physicians held out hope that he would recover.

The news of his death will be a great surprise to his many friends, for Mr. Mackay, as a rule, enjoyed robust health. Less than a week before he was actively engaged in directing the great interests with which he was connected.

The immediate cause of death, according to the medical report, was heart failure. There were, however, symptoms of pneumonia. The left lung was badly congested.

Present at the Bedside.

When the end came Mrs. Mackay was at his bedside, and with her were her mother, Mrs. Hungerford, and her sister, Countess Telfer. Mrs. Mackay's daughter, the Princess Galathea Colonna, who was summoned from Paris, arrived about an hour after Mr. Mackay had breathed his last. G. G. Ward, vice president and general manager of the Commercial Cable company, was also in the house when the end came.

Mr. Mackay was taken ill on Tuesday. He had been in the offices of the commercial cable company with Mr. Ward, and the two men went out to lunch. Mr. Mackay, who had been complaining that he did not feel well, was seized with a chill. Mr. Ward put him into a cab, took him back to Carlton House Terrace and Mr. Mackay went to bed.

Held Out Hope.

The physicians who were called in did not consider his condition very serious. A denial was issued of a report which was current in the city that he was dangerously ill. The patient's condition seemed to improve a little on Wednesday and Thursday, although his heart from the first gave the physicians much cause for concern.

On Friday there was a slight turn for the worse, but even then a fatal termination was not expected.

Mr. Mackay's condition became still more alarming Saturday. His heart continued to grow weaker in action. Despite the endeavors of his physicians, who administered oxygen, he passed a very bad night.

Saturday morning Dr. Richard Douglas Powell, Dr. Jones and Dr. Orr were summoned and held a consultation. Everything possible was done for the sufferer, but despite all their efforts Mr. Mackay grew weaker and lapsed into unconsciousness, in which condition he remained throughout the day till the end came peacefully without pain.

THREE MILLION DOLLAR DEAL

Transfer of Iowa Lease on Western Masaba Range Involves Large Sum.

Marquette, Mich., July 21.—It is officially announced that the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company has purchased the lease held by the Itasca Mining company on 160 acres of land adjoining the Hawkins mine on the Western Masaba range. The consideration was $500,000 cash and 7 cents per ton for all ore now shown up (about 5,000,000 tons) and all yet to be found. The lease provides for the payment to the feeholders of a royalty of 20 cents per ton on all ore mined, which makes the total consideration considerably over $3,000,000, it being estimated that the tract contains fully 10,000,000 tons of ore.

"Common Sense"

Is the motto of the modern woman. The thick soled shoe and the rainy day skirt are witnesses to the wise application of the motto in matters of dress.

But there is no common sense in neglecting womanly diseases or in experimenting with other medicines when it is a matter of common knowledge that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It establishes regularity, dries unfeeling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

It is not common sense to seek medical advice of those who are not physicians when Dr. Pierce, not only a doctor, but a specialist in the treatment and cure of diseases of women, offers a consultation by letter free. Write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

"I had falling of internal organs and had to go to bed every month; had irregular monthly periods which would sometimes last ten or twelve days," writes Mrs. L. Holmes of Cool Spring Street, Uniontown, Penna. "Had also indigestion so bad that I could not eat anything hardly. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me. I took three bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one of the 'Golden Medical Discovery'."

For 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only you can get free a paper covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. The book contains 1008 pages. Address Dr. J. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

IMPOLITIC.

Fair-minded people, who were in attendance at the Republican convention

in Madison, whether in sympathy with the administration forces or not, were impressed with the fact that the entire proceedings were not only destitute of a semblance of conciliation, but marked by a spirit of revenge, that in many cases gave evidence of intense hatred.

The conservative element of the party, representing more than twenty-five per cent. of the delegation, was composed of men, who for many years had been closely identified with the party and who were deeply interested in its welfare.

While recognizing the fact that they were largely in the minority, they were also conscious of the fact that back of them was a large constituency.

They asked but little of the convention and the request was so reasonable, that many men, who had opposed them in the campaign, recognized the justice of the request.

They sought nothing for themselves,

but simply said to the convention, we believe that the state and nation demand that John C. Spooner be retained in the Senate, and we ask you to endorse him unequivocally. The request was refused and after insulting him by a resolution which they knew would bar him, they said to his friends in terms so unmistakable, that comprehension was not difficult. "If you don't like the conditions and will not accept them, you are not Republicans and the party has no further use for you."

From the Governor and the man who placed him in nomination, to every man who spoke for him, the challenge was either expressed or implied, and every effort was exhausted to drive out of the convention the element not in sympathy with the controlling power.

While feeling keenly the insults

heaped upon them, the effort failed

because the men against whom this trade of abuse was directed, are loyal to the party, and they can neither be dulled nor intimidated.

When the element in power said,

"we don't want your support," it was not speaking for the party and when it said to Senator Spooner, "you can do business with us under certain conditions," it did not represent the Republican sentiment of the state.

The spirit of the convention is to be regretted. While it may be grati-

A GOOD MAN SACRIFICED.

The turning down of State Superintendent Harvey, was no surprise to the men who recognized the forces that controlled the state convention.

Mr. Harvey was objectionable to the administration, and the edict was issued that he must go.

His intelligent service and marked ability, counted for nothing. While his successor may be a good man, he can certainly do no better work than

Mr. Harvey and he lacks the experience, which only time can supply.

Supt. Harvey is not a politician.

He gave up a better position financially, to take up state school work,

because he was firmly impressed that he could accomplish something for the state.

His ambition was philanthropic and not political, and he invested energy and strenuous effort to accomplishment. While handicapped by adverse legislation, he succeeded in laying a foundation that meant much for the betterment of the common schools, and had he been permitted to work out his plans, the state would have taken front rank in her educational system.

The state has lost one of the best officials to gratify a political whim.

If there is any reform in this sort of politics, "God save the mark."

"After me the deluge" was the saying attributed to Louis XV of France.

The French revolution followed. Today the republican party is undergoing the same chaotic stage in Wisconsin that France went through back in the 18th century. Despotism rule marks the doling of state conventions

of choice of United States senators and state laws in general. "After me the deluge."

Wait until Miss Stone and Aunt

Carrie meet in joint session at Madison Assembly. Perhaps Ellen's prayers may persuade Auntie as they did the Bulgarian bandits, for money,

to go over there and preach the Bible

with her hatchet. Say, supposing

she should go and then be captured, do you suppose that Kansas would head the list for a relief fund?

"O wad some power the giffle gie us

To see oursel's as others see us."

Could any of the delegates who voted for the sacrifice of Senator

Spooner on the altar of revenge but have this power would they still persist they were true to their party, their state, their country?

"Hoot mon" said played LaFollette

"Take a brassie mon" said Chief

Cady Bryant. The "Stalwart" bunkers are nothing. Just put onto the fair green and we will make the first hole by 526 up." A great game golf when played on republican links to an appreciative gallery.

Yesterday Republicanism was represented to the national Republican platform on which President McKinley was elected. Today in Wisconsin

it represents the Ice Bill, the Stevens

Bill and the destruction of free government.

Perhaps the assessment of the walking delegates' salary may end the strike in the Pennsylvania coal regions. President Mitchell moved that they be assessed 25 per cent. of their income from the strikers.

Ten million dollars in good hard coin of Uncle Sam's treasury, was lost in the freight handlers' strike in Chicago, a week ago. Ten million dollars lost and even the strikers did not gain

what they were after.

The newest trust is a stogie trust.

In Pittsburg. Next thing they will have a smoke trust in Chicago.

PRESS COMMENT

This opinion from the Menasha

that is designed to put the control of the party into the hands of one man—never! The convention may resolve and declare for it until the crack of doom, but they will never make it anything but what it really is—a visionary, ill-timed, pernicious political measure, woven around the perpetuation of a dictator, and that man at the present time is Robert M.

LaFollette. We will have no Stevens

bill in ours, even though a Republican convention declares for it. The battle is, indeed, but half over.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The Madison Journal has published an interview with Senator John M. Whit-

head, to show that he is no bolter,

that he will abide to decision of his party in the selection of a state ticket. This was unnecessary. Senator

Whitehead's entire career has been that of a consistent, loyal Republican.

He has been a dignified, honorable,

leader, and in the future, as in the past, will be found serving loyally

under the banner of Republicanism.

SPOONER COMMENT.

Oshkosh Northwestern: It is the plank indorsing Senator Spooner and recommending his re-election, however, which is liable to cause the amount of objections and possibly endanger the successful carrying out of the balance of the platform. If not the success of the state ticket itself!

While the delegates to the state convention represent the majority of the Republican party in the state, the Northwestern is firmly of the opinion that the general sentiment is so strongly in favor of the re-election of the senator, there should have been no insinuating and significant

"ifs" connected with his endorsement.

The senator's Republicanism is above question as is also his integrity and ability, and no puerile and petty excuse should be suggested for antagonizing him or seeking to secure his retirement unless he is willing to subscribe to certain specified conditions. In thus tying a string to the indorsement of the senator the effect will be to give a feeling of disappointment

and suspicion to many of his friends and the consequences may prove most harmful to the success of the state ticket as a whole. The opportunity was presented for healing much of the animosity which has recently pre-valled in the party through an unqualified indorsement of the senator and the failure of the state convention to take this action may yet prove to be a serious mistake.

Marquette Eagle: The conditions attached to the indorsement of Senator

Spooner in the platform adopted Wednesday night by the LaFollette convention are as sensible as would be the action of a town council demanding that President Roosevelt should announce himself in favor of the erection of a new town pump in Spruce-

ville before he would receive the support or approval of the Spruceville

Solons. That Senator Spooner, as senator of the United States, has nothing to do and will have nothing to do with mere state questions is beyond doubt. His work is national and he has declined and will continue to decline to mix up in any state altercation or questions. The platform adopted infers that the Senator will not be re-elected unless he gives his outspoken indorsement on the LaFollette pet measures, but he will be just the same. All of LaFollette's horses or men can not keep the people from demanding and obtaining

Senator Spooner's re-election.

Green Bay Gazette: It need not be said that John C. Spooner will ever bow to the dictation of Governor La-

MADISON TAKEN INTO CAMP

ARE DEFEATED BY A SCORE OF 37 TO 11.

RESULT OF SATURDAY'S GAME

Unique Match Tomorrow, and State Tournament Thursday in Milwaukee.

Only two of the Maple Bluff golf team, came in up in the game between the Madison and Janesville teams on the St. Louis links Saturday afternoon. The Madison boys did not expect to win, so were not disappointed when they were defeated by a score of 37 to 11.

Course Difficult
The visitors had the same difficulty that all teams do that have a comparatively flat course at home. They were fooled on distances by the hills and hollows of the St. Louis links. It is necessary for a player to go over the course several times to really get onto the distances.

The Madison Democrat in speaking of the game says:

"It is a bad score to bring back to Madison and yet here are circumstances which mitigate the defeat. The Janesville club has been going for some eight years, it has a course said to be unsurpassed, except by one or two others in the whole northwest, its players have had professional instruction and match competition to a vastly greater extent than has been true of Madison and golf at Janesville is a much bigger institution, in both numbers of players and in interest, than it is at Madison. But the explanation of the score really lies in the fact that the course at Janesville is in no way like that of Madison and the St. Louis links team was at home while the Maple Bluff players were on strange links. The advantage which familiarity with the course gives can be scarcely appreciated by one not familiar with the game. These facts explain the wide margin of the scores, but it is not to be denied that the Janesville wielders of brassie, lofter and putter are superior to those that contend against Colonel Bogle on Maple Bluff."

Grounds in Fair Shape
The grounds were in very good shape considering the amount of rain that has fallen and the amount of work necessary to keep the grass cut. Some very good scores were made by the visitors and two of Janesville's best players went down before the Madison contingent, F. J. Baker losing by 7 and J. P. Baker by 4.

Final Score
The final score stood 37 to 11 and was as follows:

MADISON	JANESVILLE
Jacobs.....	0
Kacop.....	0
Brown.....	0
Pyre.....	0
Sanborn.....	0
O'Leary.....	0
Drake.....	0
Tressler.....	0
Total.....	11
	Total.....37

Supper Served

After the game supper was served to the visitors and club members present, and a social time enjoyed until the visitors left for home. A number of the Madison team stayed over until Sunday night but the hard rain which lasted all day prevented their playing very much. They however had a pleasant time and are looking forward to a return game with Janesville in the near future.

A Unique Match
The next event on the local program takes place tomorrow afternoon and will be a unique match for ladies and gentlemen.

The attention of the local players is now turned towards the state championship tournament which will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week over the links of the Milwaukee Country club. The association, although but one year old has all of the appearance of permanency and the officers are more than pleased with the entries received, which give assurance that the match will be a success.

State Meet
The qualifying round will start at 8 a. m. Thursday and will be at eighteen holes medal play. The thirty-six players with the lowest medal scores will enter the preliminaries and these will be at eighteen holes match play, until the finals, requiring thirty-six holes. The state cup, now held by Hamilton Vose, of Milwaukee, is the principal prize, but it is supplemented by a number of medals offered by the Country club for the lowest score in the qualifying round and for the runner-up in the finals.

Janesville Players
The St. Louis club will be represented at the tournament by Albert Schaller, J. P. Baker, H. S. McGinnis, Leo Brownell and H. W. McNamara. Several other players may go to Milwaukee for a day to see the finish. Albert Schaller is playing a fine game this year and should make a good showing in the tournament.

THEIR WHISKERS HAD BEEN COMBED

No Hayseed About Two Norwegians Who Were Too Smart for City Sharpers.

Two Norwegians from Orfordville came to Janesville on Saturday to do a little trading and before leaving home took precautions that they should not lose their money by any of the numerous traps set by the city sharks to catch the unwary countryman.

They visited a West Side drug store and made a number of purchases, which, when figured up, came to seventy-five cents more than the money that they had in sight. The man that was doing the buying asked his partner for the amount but was told he had no money. The Norwegian stopped a moment and seeing that there was no outsider around said: "Well I have some more money," and after removing one of his shoes reached down into the toe and extracted a $5 bill. He then said: "I have some more money but I don't tell where it is hid in." He had evidently been reading the papers about two numerous hold-ups in the cities and was determined not to lose his money in any such manner.

AN INTERESTING MEETING FOR MEN

Edward Ruger Gives an Able Address at the Y. M. C. A. Afternoon Service.

Over forty young men attended the Sunday afternoon service at the Y. M. C. A. building and listened to an excellent address by Edward Ruger. Mr. Ruger's remarks only occupied a part of the hour in order that the remainder of the time might be taken up by a general discussion.

For a Scripture lesson from which to gain thought for his address Mr. Ruger chose parts of the First, Ninth, Tenth and One Hundred and Nineteenth Psalms, calling special attention as he passed over it to that verse in the last of the chapters which begins: "Whereof shall a young man cleanse his ways."

The talk was made up of a series of remarks upon each of the verses of the First Chapter of the Psalms. The first three verses are devoted to those things that are good and noble and the last of those that are blighting and withering in their effect upon that which is eternal in a man.

Mrs. James Murphy
Funeral services for the late Mrs. James Murphy were held from St. Augustine's church, Footville, yesterday morning, Rev. Joseph H. Smith officiating. The song service was beautifully rendered by the choir of St. Mary's church of this city and at the close of the service the remains were brought to Janesville for interment in Mount Olivet cemetery. The pall bearers were the five sons and son-in-law of the deceased, W. P. D. J. M. J. D. J. and James Murphy, and William Canary.

POLICE MAKE A BIG HAUL

CAPTURE A LOT OF DRUNKS SATURDAY NIGHT.

TWELVE ARE TRIED IN COURT

Will Continue the Practice Until the City is Cleared of That Class.

The police force of the city decided Saturday that patience had ceased to be a virtue and that some other methods should be instituted to put a stop to so many men being drunk and disorderly about the streets.

They started out on a general raid and before they finished they had the city lock-up filled to overflowing with prisoners in all stages of intoxication. A few of the bunch who were laboring men and were working all of the time and had jobs to go to this morning were let out as soon as they were sober.

A Dozen Held.
The balance, an even dozen, were brought before Judge Fifield this morning and given a chance to settle. A majority of them were old offenders, whose names frequently appear on the court records. They all pleaded guilty to the charge against them and were given various sentences.

Sentences Given
Thomas Nash, drunk and disorderly, was fined $5 and $1.30 costs or twelve days. He went to jail. Martin Gagan was charged with the same offense and was given the same punishment.

Frank Smith, drunk and disorderly, $5 and $1.30 costs, or eight days. Lyle Lull, same offense, $2 and $1.30 or twelve days.

Henry Peake, drunk and disorderly, $2 and $1.30 or five days. John Howard, same charge, $3 and $1.30 or seven days.

Otis Walkley, was also charged with being drunk and disorderly and pleaded guilty. He told the Judge he had a place to work waiting for him and his case was adjourned until August 11 to allow him to hold his job.

Hugo Miller was charged with being a common drunkard, and on his plea of guilty was given twenty days in which to sober up. Judge Fifield intimated that the next time he would make it six months.

Frank Kelly was given fifteen days on the common drunkard charge.

James Grant and Ed Connors, who claimed that they came here to work on grading jobs were each fined $2 and costs in all $3.30. They did not have the money so went to jail.

Will Stop Practice
The police are determined that there must be less drunkenness and will round up the drunks as fast as they find them.

RACE MEETING NEXT FRIDAY

The Janesville Driving Club Will Hold an Initial Speed Contest.

The Janesville Driving Park association decided to give a one day's trotting meeting in this city on Friday, July 25. The members of the association have made a canvass of the city and have secured some money from the merchants to help pay expenses. The amount was not near what was expected, but rather than give up the meeting the promoters will take a chance on getting gateage enough to pay the purses and expenses of the meeting.

Program
The program for the afternoon includes a free-for-all trot and pace; a 2:25 trot; a 2:45 trot and pace and a three-minute trot.

Fast Starters
The free-for-all will be an interesting race and will have four starters, Nicholas J. 2:14 1-4; Aunt Laura, 2:16; Ira S. 2:16 1-2 and Barney McCoy, 2:12.

Good Horses
The 2:25 trot will have Red Rover, 2:24 1-4; Lady B., 2:29 1-4; a horse from Joe Bassett's string and a horse from Beloit.

The management has the assurance of the following parties from outside points that they will make entries in some of the classes. Conway Bros., C. Bliven, S. Wileman and C. F. Mabbett, of Edgerton; Joe Bassett and A. K. Seaver, of Clinton; Wm. Lantz, W. F. Holt, H. McGinnis and A. R. Holt, of Beloit.

May Have More
If the meeting next Friday is a success the Association will plan to give a three days' meeting in September. Race meetings were once very popular in Janesville and there is no reason why they should not be again. It costs considerable to get up a meeting and the association needs some outside aid to carry it through.

Rock County Teachers' Institute Takes Rank with the Best in the Country.

Increased attendance, a continuance of earnest enthusiasm and a determination to make the most of the excellent opportunities offered characterized the opening of the second week of the Rock County Teachers' Institute, at the High School building, this morning.

The work of the institute is being carried on most successfully and both the conductors and those in attendance, are well satisfied with the progress that is being made. Last year the Rock county institute was ranked as one of the two best in the state. The high grade of excellence, which was the characteristic of last year's work, is being maintained this year and the teachers have the advantage of one of the best institutes in the country.

The attendance has increased steadily during the past week and the enrollment has been raised from 74 on the opening day to 124. Young men with teaching aspirations are still few and far between. The names of those who have enrolled at the institute since the publication of the names of those in attendance at the opening session, in last Monday evening's Gazette, follow:

CASE OF BROADHEAD.

BY EDWARD B. CLARK.

Coke and Broadhead are friends. Coke is the attorney for the Chicago Jewelers' Anti-Thief association, and Broadhead is a physician and the chief lecturer on mental disorders in the Northeast Side Medical school. Both are natural born and enthusiastic bibliophiles. Their book collecting has the same trend, and there are precious few things about the outdoor world from Aristotle's Natural History down that have not a place on the shelves of their library.

Dr. Broadhead is in the vernacular an alienist sharp. When the detention hospital authorities get tangled up on a case the doctor is sent for, and after five minutes' interview with the patient he tells the other doctors what the man should be shipped off to Elgin or turned loose on the community. When insanity cases are on trial before a jury and Dr. Broadhead happens to be called he does the thinking for both the judge and the men in the box. The public believes that the deans from Dr. Broadhead's sharp eyes are veritable Roentgen rays, and that he looks through a man's skull and reads his brain as readily as another man would read a book.

For 20 years Dr. Broadhead has been making a study of kleptomania. He is known as the kleptomania's friend. The doctor has a theory, and he propounds it once a month regularly to his students in the Northeast Side Medical school, that not the slightest blame, to say nothing of criminality, can attach to the person who "takes" when moved by a certain impulse. The doctor has gone such lengths with his theory that he has published two books on the matter.

James Coke, the doctor's friend, as the attorney to the Anti-Thief association, comes in contact about once a week with some of the toughest propositions in the way of thieves that ever brushed up against honest civilization. Coke and the doctor often go botanizing together. Sometimes they fish a little, but their trips and their companionship are chiefly in the open air. Coke as a lawyer, and especially as the jewelers' attorney, combated at every opportunity the doctor's kleptomania theories. "You see it's this way with you, doctor," said Coke one day when they were strolling together. "You are too broadly sympathetic. You would prefer to believe a person honest, and so you think he is. It's simply a case of the wish being father to the thought."

"Now Coke," said the doctor, "you're been prosecuting people, thieves and otherwise, for years, and you are hardened. I tell you that more than half the people who are arrested as thieves are simply kleptomaniacs. Some of these unfortunate who take things are not even guilty of covetousness. There is an overwhelmingly irresistible desire to take, and take it is, and then men like you howl 'thief' and bound the poor devils to prison. Read my books on kleptomania, or if you won't do that, come over to the Northeast Side school next Monday and hear me lecture to the physicians of the future on the honest thief. Why, I tell you again that some of the cleanest consciences on earth are in the breasts—if that's where the conscience is situated—of some of these State street women shoppers that the floorwalkers are always looking out for."

It was only three days later that Detective John Broderick, of the central detail, arrested Mary Brown for the larceny of three diamond rings from a tray on the showcase of Poor & Allen. The policeman and the detective both declared it to be a "cold case of steal." The justice of the peace held Mary Brown and the grand jury indicted her. Subsequently the trial was held before Judge Chetlain.

Coke was there as the jewelers' representative to aid in the prosecution. In fact, the preparation of the case, its presenting and the appeal to the jury for conviction were mainly his. The defense put in a plea of kleptomania. Mary Brown was good looking. The jury was told to look at her. The jury did. The jury was then told that Mary Brown when a child stole blackberry jam from the butters, that in later years she had taken other things, but in each case had been impelled not by wickedness, but by a desire that amounted to a disease to possess things not her own.

Coke managed to offset by sheer strength of argument a good deal of Mary's beauty and much of the force of the kleptomania argument. The jury seemed to have level heads, and the fact that Mary had rejected the costliest rings in the tray to slip in her glove gave evidence of a pretty fair amount of mental responsibility.

Coke was well satisfied with the situation of affairs, when to his utter amazement the lawyer for the defense called out "Dr. John Broadhead."

Dr. Broadhead came bustling forward from a seat in the far rear of the courtroom. Attorney Coke sighed when he saw his friend, the alienist. "It's all up now," he said to himself.

The eminent physician took the stand. He declared in a voice almost sublimely sympathetic that in his opinion Mary Brown was a kleptomania; that she had taken things because of an inclination to take that was so powerful that neither the human mind nor the human hand could resist. "These people need sympathy, not punishment, gentlemen," said the doctor.

There was no use trying to stem the tide of the effect of the great alienist's testimony. Not all Coke's eloquence availed a jot. The jury filed out, turned around and filed in and acquitted Mary Brown.

That night at dinner James Coke was in deep thought. He said so little and looked so immersed in his musings that his wife regarded him a bit curiously. Finally a gleam came into the lawyer's eyes. "Jane," he said, "Dr. Broadhead and I have been collectors of nature books for years, haven't we? That's true, you say, and, yes, we both have very fine collections. My collection, however, isn't as fine as it used to be, and I haven't sold any books, either. I think I'll call on the doctor for an hour or so to-night."

Two hours later James Coke returned home. He had a parcel under his arm. "What have you in the package, James?" asked his wife.

The lawyer's answer was not direct. "I found that Dr. Broadhead was out, Jane, and I told the maid that I would wait in his library for awhile until he came back. I had the best chance in some time to look over his books. Did you ask what I have in the package, Jane? Well," he said, "Dr. Broadhead and I have been collectors of nature books for years, haven't we? That's true, you say, and, yes, we both have very fine collections. My collection, however, isn't as fine as it used to be, and I haven't sold any books, either. I think I'll call on the doctor for an hour or so to-night."

"Jane, it's curious, isn't it, but Dr. Broadhead is out to-night lecturing on kleptomania. The next time that he calls here, my dear, see to it that the bookcase is

A FRENCH ROOM.

A Dainty Style of Furnishing Much in Vogue at Present.

The French style of interior decoration commands itself particularly for this time of the year owing to the general light and airy effect which characterizes it. With the French style of furnishing no rugs are necessary, the polished hardwood floor being considered sufficient, or, if rugs are used, they are merely small bits of color scattered here and there.

The chief beauty of a French room is in the walls, which are often laid in panels and otherwise tastefully decorated in pale colors. With a handsomely decorated wall of this kind no pictures are needed. The general effect of a French room is one of elegant simplicity.

The room in the illustration has white and gold woodwork, and the walls are laid in panels of pale green. This green forms an admirable background for the daintily colored furniture, which is upholstered in pink, pale yellow and white. The fireplace is white and gold; the frames of the chairs are of mahogany or gilt. A handsome empire mahogany chest stands in one corner and a quaint lamp stand in the shape of a cabinet in another. The windows of the room are also French and open through the center outward.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 21.—A special train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, carrying a crowd of excursionists from Rockford, Ill., was derailed at the bridge over the Menominee river. ## Beefsteak on the Gridiron.

Sitting on the balcony of the Anglo-American club, Brussels, a Yankee and an Englishman spent a lazy afternoon gushing each other on racial and national follies and traits. The conversation veered into flags. "Yours," drawled the Britisher, "reminds me of nothing so much as a gridiron—a deuced big gridiron, don't you know?" "And yours," was the quick comeback from the American, "reminds me forcibly of a beefsteak—a darned big beefsteak, but not so big that we can't cook it on our gridiron."

Settling Succession Problem.

The emperor Francis Joseph bravely faced this knotty problem a little while ago in the interests of his dynasty. Of two archdukes who are brothers, the elder, Franz Ferdinand, may become emperor, but his no-royal wife is not to be empress; and should he have sons they remain outside the succession. The younger, Otto, married to a royal princess, and his sons after him are to count as Franz Ferdinand's successors.

Some of Sarasate's Berlin friends met the artist in a knope the day after his first Berlin concert. ## Rheumatism

The liniment bottle and flannel strip are familiar objects in nearly every household. They are the weapons that have been used for generations to fight old Rheumatism, and are about as effective in the battle with this giant disease as the blunderbuss of our forefathers would be in modern warfare.

Rheumatism is caused by an acid, sour condition of the blood. It is filled with acid, irritating matter that settles in the joints, muscles and nerves, and liniments and oils nor nothing else applied externally can dislodge these gritty, corroding particles. They were deposited there by the blood and can be reached only through the blood. Rubbing with liniments sometimes relieve temporarily the aches and pains, but these are only symptoms which are liable to return with every change of the weather; the real disease lies deeper, the blood and system are infected. Rheumatism cannot be radically and permanently cured until the blood has been purified, and no remedy does this so thoroughly and promptly as S. S. S. It neutralizes the acids and sends a stream of rich, strong blood to the affected parts, which dissolves and washes out all foreign materials, and the sufferer obtains happy relief from the torturing pains.

S. S. S. contains no potash or other mineral, but is a perfect vegetable blood purifier and most exhilarating tonic. Our physicians will advise, without charge, all who write about their case, and we will send free our special book on Rheumatism and its treatment. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

WILL HAVE NO STRIKE HERE

LINEMEN SATISFIED, AND ARE NOT UNION MEN.

MANAGER SLATER'S OPINION

He Says Harsh Things of the Union Agitators Who Excite Trouble.

According to Alfred Slater, local manager of the Wisconsin Telephone Company, there will be no strike of the telephone men in this city. They are not union men, they have no grievance against the local company, and they would gain nothing and probably lose a good deal by the strike.

Strikers in the City

Ten or fifteen men on the way to Milwaukee, who had been thrown out of work at Beloit by the strike of the linemen in that place, stopped off here for a few hours on Saturday to convince Manager Slater that his men ought to strike. Their argument wholly failed of its purpose. The Janesville men are satisfied as they are and Manager Slater feels that they are being treated as well as any telephone employees in the state and better than many.

He has talked with his men as well as with the strikers from Beloit and there seems to be not the slightest probability of a strike in Janesville.

No Union Men Here

Union men are at the bottom of the strikes in Beloit and elsewhere, but there are no union men in the employ of the local company, so that there is no hold on the men on the ground of duty to labor organization. Manager Slater speaks in the strongest terms against the abuse of the union. While he admits that it is a great opportunity to aid the men and settle differences between the company and employees amicably, he does not believe that there is justice in the union's attitude, when it attempts to draw employees in neighboring towns into the trouble that Beloit men have been bringing upon themselves.

"The case is just the same," he said, "as if a man were to come down the street and say, 'I am going to hang myself, and I want you to do the same thing.' And there would be just as much reason for his complying with his request. It would not help the local men one iota to join in a sympathetic strike."

Abuse of Union

The union is used as an aid to second rate workmen who could not hold a job on their own merits, thinks Mr. Slater. "There are lots of stiffs in the unions who are hanging on to the good men and holding them down, and who use their union card as an excuse for getting a meal from some of the better men. You can put that in the paper and put my name back of it," concluded Mr. Slater.

No Obligation

The men here are getting the union wages but there is no union obligation upon them. They are all good men who can hold their places the year round without any help from the labor organizations. As an example of the way that they were treated by the company their manager made comparison between the wages that one of the telegraph companies was paying and that which the Bell men received, when the two were working side by side, showing an advantage to the telephone people of five dollars a month.

Trouble Men's Case

The local "trouble men" will not go out for other reasons. The linemen are only employed during the summer months when it is possible to be at work out of doors. They are picked up from everywhere have no homes, and all the conditions of their lives tend to make them ready to rebel at the least opportunity. The trouble men, on the other hand, are employed by the year even when the snow is so deep that the men have nothing to do but sit around the stove in the office. The only reason that the trouble men in Beloit have gone out, thinks Mr. Slater, is because they were forced into the general strike by the large number of linemen who were in the city at that time.

William Fathers has made the purchase of the Harry Reynolds cigar store on North Main street and will restock the store with new goods. H. R. Hill will be found at Mr. Father's store where both gentlemen will be pleased to meet their host of friends.

PLEASANT LAWN PARTY

Joint Birthday Celebration Held At Emerald Grove

On last Wednesday evening a pleasant lawn party was given at the Emerald Grove home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Jones in honor of their daughter, Miss Lella Jones, and of their niece, Miss Florence Wright. The lawn was brilliantly illuminated with decorative lanterns and gas lights and the gathering on the lawn made a very pretty picture.

Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Jones at tables prettily decorated with beautiful flowers and the refreshments were followed by a floral contest in which the guests participated. The first prizes were won by Miss Isabelle Proctor and Ernest Boone and the consolation prizes were awarded to Miss Florus Reeder and Albert Boone.

The guests at the party were Jane Irish, Bessie Reid, Mary Herbert, Lenna Jones, Florus Reeder, Hattie Wright, Isabelle Proctor, Gertrude Reeder, Edna Wright, Jacob Larson, Geo. Irish, Leon Jones, William Herbert, Elroy Van Allen, Harry Ramson, Ole Larson, Ernest Bogue, Walter Jones, Arelis Reid, Albert Boone and Elements of many handsome birthday gifts and of the best wishes of the guests for many happy returns of the day.

PRESS COMMENT

Menasha Evening Breeze, Norman H. Black: That Gov. LaFollette knows how to provide against any possible future emergency, by entailing succession to the throne, is evidenced by the nomination of J. O. Davidson, for lieutenant governor.

Milwaukee News: The increasing favor with which the mention of the name of Edward C. Wall meets for the nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket, only goes to demonstrate what a strong candidate he would prove to head the ticket with.

Madison Democrat: Some of the Stalwart delegates in yesterday's session must have taken lessons from the leather-throated newshoys. While in the minority they came near carrying the Stalwart motions by the strength of their lungs.

Cleveland Leader: The Republican party is also responsible for the smoke nuisance. In the years 1892 and 1894 there was no smoke in the city of Cleveland. Grover Cleveland and his party are the only known and practical smoke preventers in the United States.

Buffalo Express: It is said that Representative Littlefield has had his anti-trust bill ready for introduction since last May. It would have been since to have introduced it. The longer it is before the country for public discussion, the better will be the prospect of passing it.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The fact is already apparent that the fight against the governor will be carried to the polls. This unfortunate condition might have been averted but the hot-heads seem determined to fight it out to a finish. Time alone will reveal the wisdom or the foolishness of this plan.

Marquette Star: Kitchener, "the man of ice and iron," has been welcomed back to London as the great peace-maker. "Ye Gods!" Now we won't be surprised to hear of Carrie Nation being met with open arms by the denizens of Oshkosh.
